

Atlassian

“Atlassian provides innovative enterprise software solutions that allow dynamic teams in knowledge industries to work more effectively together.

“Just like our software, our company mission is to be an innovative, driven company with all encompassing goals and values.”

Our goals as a business are broad and go beyond the physical products we provide: To talk frequently with our customers. to be at the forefront of the change we believe is coming in the way enterprise software is developed and sold, to value our Australian heritage, to be innovative in everything that we do, but always be realistic, and to solve a few problems brilliantly, rather than aiming to solve every problem.

From www.atlassian.com/about/mission.jsp, 3 May 2005