Collections of digital documents and files primarily used by instructional media + magic, inc. and Sigma Systems Inc. in their research.

The General Archive has become the primary collection of electronic documents in portable document format (PDF). The PDF documents may refer to associated Audio, such as mp3 files, and video, typically mp4 files . These are now stored with the publisher of the PDF. Some media are still found in a separate Media collection. Resources include spreadsheets, XML schemas, and other files that may be used in the original format.
